A great Catholic university is to be erected in Washington, and Archbishop Gibbon has issued an appeal to the 8,000,000, members of his church in America to contribute something like a million dollars to that end.

The state fair is a financial failure, owing to the unpropitious weather. The gate receipts Tuesday were $52; Wednesday about $95, and Thursday $375. Friday's receipts will not be as great as Thursday. It will be impossible to pay the premiums in full.

The portraits on United States bank notes of different denominations are: On $1, Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Jackson; $10, Webster; $20, Hamilton; $50, Franklin; $100, Lincoln; $500, General Mansfield; $1,000, DeWitt Clinton; $5,000, Madison; $10,000, Jackson.

The Marine hospital bureau is informed of the arrival of the steamship Gardiner at Hampton Roads, twenty-one days from Marseilles, with all well on board. None of her crew will be allowed to land until the authorities are satisfied that no danger will result therefrom.

The United States steamer Swatara sailed from New Orleans yesterday. She had on board $10,400,000 in silver, doubtless the most valuable cargo ever taken from that port. At the quarantine station she transferred $2,000,000 to the Yantic, and in company the vessels sailed for New York.

J. B. Owen, one of the oldest conductors on the Chicago and Northwestern railway, running on the Peninsula division, was assaulted on the street, at Green Bay, by an unknown man, Tuesday night and some sulphuric acid was thrown in his face. One eye is destroyed and his head severely burned.

The statistics of the commissioner of internal revenue show that during the year ended June 30, 1885, 69,156,902 gallons of distilled spirits were placed on the home market, and tax was paid on 19,135,953 barrels of malt liquors. The people of this country in a twelve month also consumed 20,508,845 gallons of wine.

The first Episcopal convocation of the jurisdiction of South Dakota assembles in Sioux Falls on September 16. In the field there are about forty parishes and thirty ministers. Bishop Walker, of North Dakota, will deliver the convocation sermon. One of the main features will be the opening of All Saints school on Friday, the 18th. The meeting will conclude with a reception at the school.

And still the democratic press, including the Harper's Weekly, is fighting John Sherman's Mt. Gilead speech. But it will be observed that not a single paper which finds fault with the senator's speech has undertaken the task of proving that every word he said was not true. Sherman had both facts and justice on his side and the democratic newspapers and the Harper's Weekly know this.

A suit was decided Thursday in the superior court at Charlotte, N. C., involving points of interest to the general public. In January, 1883, James G. Holmes, late of Charleston, and now of Baltimore, was ejected from the only first-class passenger car of a train on the Carolina Central railroad and forced to ride for some hours in a car filled with tobacco smoke. He claimed damages in the sum of $5,000, and a jury awarded him $475.

Thomas Mulligan, who some time ago was secretely married to Minnie Moore, daughter of William Moore, the wealthy mill-owner, at Cohoes, New York, and which affair created quite a sensation at the time, has come to the conclusion that his father-in-law will not forgive him, and so has made up his mind that he must do something to support himself and wife. Obtaining nothing better, he has put on his old clothes and accepted a position as look-tender on the Erie canal at that place.

Mrs. Mulligan, the successor of Miss Ada Sweet, as pension agent at Chicago, is the widow of Col. Thomas A. Mulligan, organizer and colonel of the Mulligan brigade, whose gallant services in the union cause during the late war are familiar to every reader of the history of that struggle. Col. Mulligan was killed at Lexington, Mo., while gallantly defending that city. Mrs. Mulligan is about 40 years of age, and quite prominent in social and religious circles in Chicago.

It is related in Catholic annals that the Empress Helena, mother of Constantine, journeying to Palestine, found the true cross in the fourth century; that Sarban, the Persian, plundered Jernsalem and carried the cross away in A. D. 615; that Heraclius, the Byzantine conqueror, retrieved the sacred relic, and re-erected it in the holy city in A. D. 628. This latter event is celebrated in the Catholic and Episcopal churches as the Festival of the Elevation of the Cross. In Great Britain the day is called Holy Cross and Holyhood. It falls on next Monday.

Reports received at the Union Pacific headquarters in Omaha show that nearly six hundred Chinamen have been returned to Rock Springs coal mines, Wyoming, and put to work, and that so far no further trouble has ensued. Six companies of troops, numbering about three hundred men, are camped at Rock Springs to keep the peace. General Manager Calloway, of the Pacific company, says he does not know what the outcome of this affair will be, but there is only one course for the Union Pacific company to pursue, and that is to protect its employes, which it proposes to do.

The democratic administration of New York city costs $30,000,000 a year, while the valuation of property and the rates of taxation are increasing annually. The New York state senate, at the late session of that body, appointed a committee to investigate this subject and to explain, if possible, why it should cost one-fourth as much to administer the affairs of New York city as it does to administer the affairs of the national government. It needed no investigation committee to give an intelligible answer to this inquiry. Democratic rings, plunder syndicates, jobbery, corruption and fraud got the most of the money.

A telegram from Ottawa, Illinois, brings the sad news of the sudden death of the Hon. Emory A. Storrs, the noted lawyer and orator. His death will cause a profound sorrow because in all the west there was not a more popular orator or a more genial gentleman than he. For years he had been foremost at the western bar, and in every campaign from 1860 to 1884, his voice was gladly heard by thousands in all parts of the country. Mr. Storrs was also an accomplished scholar, and the best European letters ever contributed to the American press were those he wrote about two years ago on the famous art galleries of the continent.

Eight conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church and two of the Methodist Episcopal church south will begin next week: At Manitowoc, Wis., Bishop Bowman will convene the Chicago German conference; at Fostoria, Bishop Harris the central Ohio; at Barnesville, Bishop Foster the eastern Ohio; at Seward, Bishop Andrews the Nebraska; at DesMoines, Iowa, Bishop Foss the Des Moines; at Rushville, Bishop Nindo the Illinois; at Wahpeton, Bishop Walden the north Dakota mission; at Tucson, Bishop Fowler the Arizona mission; all these are in the northern church, and all will meet Thursday. In the southern church, Bishop Granbery will preside over the Indian mission at Oak Lodge, Indian teratory, on Thursday; and Bishop Wilson over the Louisville at Greenville, Ky., on Wednesday. A Methodist conference will also begin at Montfort, Wis., next Wednesday, over which Bishop B. T. Roberts will preside. The Episcopal Diocesan convention of Western New York (Bishop Coxe) will open at Geneva Tuesday; at Newaygo, Michigan, the Grand Rapids convocation of the Episcopal church will meet Tuesday. The Dakota convention of Disciples of Christ will be held at Watertown, beginning Thursday. The Missouri Universalist convention will meet at Tina, Friday. On Tuesday the Minnesota Congregational meeting will be held at Winona, and the New Hampshire at Nashua; on Thursday the Dakota at Huron; and on Friday the Eastern Welsh of Pennsylvania at Pittston. Many Baptist associations will meet during the coming week.

Sudden Death of Emory A. Storrs, at Ottawa.

OTTWA, Ill., Sept. 12th—The Hon. Emory A. Storrs, the famous lawyer and orator, was found dead in bed at his hotel, at seven o'clock this morning, by his wife who came here in response to a telegram from him that he was sick. The cause is paralysis of the heart. He came here Tuesday to argue the Mackin case. He had been dead three hours when found by his wife.

The Missing Brainerd.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Sept. 12.—Lawrence Brainerd's lawyer here says he does not know where the fugitive banker is. He telegraphed to Chicago and St. Paul law firms at the time of the kidnapping, directing them to take steps to rescue Brainerd from the kidnappers, and to get him over the line again in the easiest possible way. Friday he was advised from St. Paul of Brainerd's escape, but knows nothing of the manner in which it was accomplished. Mrs. Brainerd expects that her husband will be with her again soon.

The Sultan's Courtesy.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—The United States man-of-war Quinnebaug will sail for Syrarna on the 14th inst. The vessel was detained at the arsenal at Pera to make necessary repairs. The sultan declined to allow payment for the repairs, and Mr. Cox, the United States minister, thanked his majesty for the courtesy extended to his countrymen. Mr. Cox had his first interview with Said Pasha, the grand visier, Friday, concerning the tariff laws which affect the trade of the United States.

About Rebel Riel.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 12.—The government has decided to let the law take its course in the Riel case. Instructions have been sent to the officials and mounted police to exercise special precautions in regard to the prisoner. The force at Regina is to be increased. Before the sentence can be carried out, the governor general's warrant, ordering the execution, must be issued. Without this the sheriff has no authority to carry out the sentence.

To Be Placed on the Retired List.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—Inspector General Nelson H. Davis will be placed on the retired list on the 20th inst.; his successor, it is understood, will be either Gen. Roger Jones or Gen. A. Baird. The former is the senior officer, but the latter is said to have the more brilliant record and stronger indorsement.

A SECOND FAILURE.

THE PURITAN AND GENESTA WILL HAVE TO TRY IT AGAIN.

The Race Not Made in the Prescribed Time of Seven Hours—A Light Wind the Trouble—Full Details of the Attempt.

Special

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—There was a stiff breeze from the northeast Friday morning when the racing committee of the New York Yacht club and others who were privileged, boarded the tug Luckenbach. Everything looked like a race. A heavy choppy sea made some of the land-lubbers quail for fear of sea-sickness. And there was a good deal of that on board the numerous excursion boats and tugs. The Luckenbach started down the bay at 8:15. She stopped at Tompkinsville to take aboard Mr. Louis Bayard of the regatta committee and one or two other gentlemen.

As she left the dock there the Puritan was seen under way heading for the starting point. The Genesta too was sailing in the same direction with two jibs and mainsail set. The Luckenbach hauled up alongside of her and exchanged a number of passengers. At 9:07 she took the Genesta in tow. There was not much need, however. The towline was slack almost all the time. In the splendid breeze the Genesta went along as fast as the tug, and shortly she began to do so well that off the Romer beacon the aid of the tug was deemed unnecessary and hawser the was cast off. The Genesta made preparations to set her working topsail. Further down the bay the Puritan hurried along under jib, staysail and mainsail. The Luchenbach ran up alongside the tug Scandinavia, which carried the burning raft, and gave her instructions about where to anchor it. The wind was strong from the east, and in the choppy sea the yachts and small craft which crowded the Horseshoe bobbed up and down prettily and serenely.

At 11:05, off Sandy Hook point, Capt. Joe Ellsworth and Messrs. Forbes and Burgess, who went down the bay on the Luckenbach, were put aboard the Puritan. The tug headed for the lightship and people became expectant. She anchored about one-fourth of a mile east of the lightship, and at 11:15 signaled the two yachts, which were bearing away to soa to get ready, and they put about and came back to the starting line.

The course was to be east by north. The two yachts rounded up for the start as the preparatory signal was blown at 11:30. They crossed the imaginary line between the judges boat and the lightship, on the port tack, the Puritan at 11:35:41 and the Genesta at 11:35:48, the Puritan to the windward. They were about one-eight of a mile apart. The Puritan passed along close to the tugs. She heeled over and all that could be seen of her crew was their heads.

The Genesta's new bowsprit dipped into the water in the heavy sea, but she danced along like a thing of life. The sloop's tactics were much the same as Monday. She worked to windward well but did not leave her rival as far behind as the enthusiastic yachtsmen wanted her to. They saw the Englishman not only holding their idol, but gaining a little, and for a time, on this tack, there was less hilarity and cheering and boasting.

At 12:40 the Genesta went about and crossed to the windward of the Puritan and having secured this coveted position she returned to the port tack. The Puritan kept straight ahead, pointing close up to the wind, and, although the Englishman was ahead and apparently gaining, the admirers of the Bostonian never lost faith in her. They prayed for more wind, but in vain. The breeze was seen to be slackening, though the Puritan had more of it than the Genesta.

At 1:10 the Genesta went about on the long port tack heading about southeast. Twenty seconds later the Puritan followed. The Genesta took in her working topsail and set her club-top-sail, and the Puritan did the same thing an instant afterward. The Puritan was on the lee bow of the Genesta and about a mile ahead. She had more wind than the other fellow, and she gladdened the hearts of her supporters by the way she plunged ahead. This was a long stretch, and the Puritan did nobly. But the wind was dying out, and her speediness was to avail her little. It became apparent that there was to be another day lost.

The yachts made several stretches, and at 5:32 the Puritan went about and headed for the turning raft. The Genesta was then about two miles in the rear. The wind died out completely, and Mr. Toms told the captain of the tug to go close to the Scandinavia. Then he shouted through the trumpet to Mr. Olson that when the flag on the Luckenbach was lowered it would mean that there was no race; and he directed the Scandinavia to take the Puritan in tow.

There were a number of excursion boats and steam yachts around the raft. Their passengers cheered lustily and whistles were blown and guns fired when at 5:37:56 the Puritan rounded the raft. She ran out her spanker boom and squared away for home. Five minutes later the flag on the Luckenbach was lowered and the Scandinavia ranlup to the Puritan and threw her a line. The Genesta did not turn the raft. Her captain saw there could be no race with such an ungrateful wind and put about. The Luckenbach ran alongside of her. Sir Richard Sutton shouted to Mr. Toms that it was too bad and he hoped for better luck the next time. A long hawser was thrown out and the Luckenbach started for Sandy Hook with the Genesta in tow. Both yachts anchored in Horse Shoe bay.

Another attempt to make twenty miles to windward and return will be made Saturday.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Sept. 12.—The Horseshoe at night was the rendezvous of a large number of sailing and steam yachts whose lights illuminate it in all directions. The captain of the Sea Foam, a large schooner-yacht, said that while the Genesta sailed better than the Puritan on the starboard tack, the latter did better than the Genesta on the port. Neither, however, did remarkably well. He also said that the Puritan was the faster boat under all circumstances.

The Genesta's people who were found on board of the English boat at anchor near the Sea Foam, said that the Puritan was about a quarter of a mile ahead when they saw it was useless to attempt to round the buoy.

TAMMANY HALL DEMOCRACY.

Adopts a Series of Resolutions in Regard to Public Offices.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of Tammany hall general committee held Friday night, the following resolutions offered by Mr. Bourke Cochrane were adopted by a standing vote:

WHEREAS, Popular control of a public service is an essential element of a Republican form of government, and

WHEREAS, Recent legislation has tended to diminish and restrict the authority of officers chosen by the people to appoint, promote and remove their own subordinates, and

WHEREAS, The Democratic party in the late presidential election pledged itself to effect a thorough and complete reform of the public service, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Tammany Hall Democracy demands of the state and federal authorities the complete redemption of the pledges made by the party to secure to the people of the state and nation an efficient, a capable, and an honest public service.

Resolved, That we protest against any legislative or administrative measures which may tend to create a permanent office holding class in this country and we denounce all attempts to grant a life tenure of office to any body of public servants as the first step towards the subversion of those doctrines of equality which have been the safeguard of the republic.

Resolved, That appointments to office should be made on the untrammelled and undivided responsibility of public officers chosen by the people for that purpose and answerable to their constituents for the manner in which they have discharged their trusts.

Resolved, That the creation of irresponsible boards or commissioners vested with the authority to control or interfere with the exercise of the power of appointment by elective officers is an abridgement of the privileges conferred on the chosen servants of the people, and we condemn it as unwarrantable invasion of popular rights and an undemocratic and indefensible restriction of the vigor and effect of suffrage.

SMALL SPECKS OF WAR.

The Attitude of Spain and Germany Much Less Pacific.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Spanish advices of Friday are of a much less peaceful nature than previous reports. Bellicose manifestos have been placarded in many of the cities in Spain, and there are other indications of the popular desire for a recourse of hostilities. The statement published in Le Matin to the effect that a military uprising had taken place in Madrid is, however, pronounced a canard. Admiral Topeti, under secretary of the Spanish marine, has resigned his office on account, it is said, of the friendly terms embodied in the Spanish reply to Germany respecting the Carolines affair.

Le Paris states that it has received information from an authentic source that the German fleet has been ordered to be ready in case of emergencies.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A special to The Times from Madrid confirms the report that the Spanish note to Germany expresses the hope that Germany will recognize the prior rights of Spain to the Carolines, even to the islands which German cruisers have already occupied, and that, in that event, Spain will insert in The Gazette an ample apology in the name of King Alfonso, the government and the country for the insults to the German embassy.

Suicide of a Count.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon the Count H. Wilhelm Browne, of Berlin, who arrived by steamer Friday morning from New South Wales, shot himself in front of St. Lawrence Hall on James street. The particulars are as follows: The count, who owned a large estate in Germany left home early last spring to visit Australia and South America, leaving a young and beautiful wife behind him. At Rio Janeiro he received a cablegram that his wife had fled with a young tradesman and was supposed to be in either New South Wales or in Canada. He at once left for the former place and failing to find the guilty couple came here, where he found his wife and her paramour living at one of the hotels. He visited her and entreated her to return, but without avail. He then went to St. Lawrence hall and had dinner, after which he walked coolly out on the sidewalk and discharged his revolver at his left ear, the bullet going through the ear. He was conveyed to Notre Dame hospital, where he lies in a dying condition.

Stokes Buys Some Telegraph Property.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 12.—At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon Sheriff Dawstoe appeared on the court house steps for the purpose of selling the Ohio lines of the Bankers' and Merchants' Telegraph company, which were in litigation in the common pleas court all last week. Attorney Estop, for the American Rapid Telegraph company, warned all persons that if they bid at the sale they did so at their risk for the lines were still in litigation and were the property of the American Rapid company and that the latter concern proposed to uphold its rights. W. B. Tyler, son of Judge Tyler bought the lines for $65,350 for Edward S. Stokes, despite the warning. There were no other bidders.

"I Wish I Was a Tom-Cat."

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Parson Downs opened his Friday night services with a hymn: Just as he read off the first lines he coughed violently, and after clearing his throat, shouted at the top of his harsh voice: "I wish I was a tom cat—an old tom cat." At this the dense audience laughed, yelled, hissed and hooted. When the noise had subsided somewhat he continued: "No, perhaps not for the reason you think or as the public would say, because I want to scratch and fight, but really so that I would always keep in good voice."

HE WANTS HIS PAY.

EX-SENATOR CRESWELL MAKES A REPLY TO THE COMPTROLLER.

He Objects to Certain Statements and Makes a Defense of the Court of Alabama Claims—"Monstrous and Unpleasant."

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—Judge Harlan, presiding judge of the court of Alabama claims, being still detained in the west by illness, the communication addressed by him under date of the 5th inst. to Secretary of State Bayard, containing the court side of the controversy raised by the accounting officers of the treasury in regard to the disbursements of the court and the authority under which they have been made, is still withheld from publication, but in the meantime a breezy correspondence has been started with First Comptroller Durham by ex-Senator Creswell, counsel for the United States before the court, whose salary Mr. Durham has suspended. In a letter dated Sept. 11, addressed to Auditor Durham, Mr. Creswell refers with surprise to certain statements given out to newspapers with respect to his official salary and position. He especially objects to the statement that the law only authorized his compensation at an allowance in each case tried, to be fixed by the court, and that the court has never paid the slightest attention to this law, and no evidence was on file that he had ever tried a case, notwithstanding which he had regularly drawn $8,000 a year. Mr. Creswell says to the first comptroller:

Knowing you to be the highest accounting officer of the government I am unwilling to suppose—in fact, I cannot believe—that these articles emanated from you. I have received no official communication from you whatever upon the subject. I do not know from any official source whether my salary has been stopped or not. I know I have not received it for the month of August. If you have refused to pay it you have left me completely in the dark as to the reasons which have appeared to you sufficient to justify such action, and you have failed even to give me notice to appear for the purpose of presenting my views in support of the claim.

Referring to the section in the original act establishing the court, which provided that he, as counsel, should receive such reasonable allowance to be apportioned in each claim as might be approved by the court, Mr. Creswell says an honest effort was made by the former court to apply this section, but it was found impracticable, and he accordingly went on with the duties for eight months without any pay until the matter could be laid before congress and some fixed salary could be prescribed by law. He spreads upon his letter copious extracts from the debates in congress when this matter was under discussion, showing an almost unanimous opinion that his compensation ought to be a fixed salary, and not by an apportionment, the only difference of opinion being whether the pay should be $12,500, $10,000, $9,000 and $8 a day expense, or $8,000. He shows that finally, on motion of Senator (now secretary) Bayard, the latter sum was agreed upon. Thereupon Mr. Creswell asks:

Who shall give meaning to this proviso but the senators who debated it, and who shall be better authority than the very senator who amended the amendment to meet his own views and then proceeded to explain precisely what those views were? Observe what Mr. Bayard says: "I propose to put that counsel on a level with the attorney general of the United States, a cabinet officer, and to pay him a salary of $8,000, which it seems to me is enough for his services." This difference between Mr. Bayard on the one side and his brother senators, who agreed with him, and yourself, on the other, is irreconcilable, and the inference is inevitable that either Senator Bayard and his confreres did not know the meaning of their own language, or that Comptroller Durham is in error.

Mr. Creswell goes on to say that after a careful study of this law and the debate which accompanied it the former court adopted in open court an order fixing his compensation at $8,000 a year, payable monthly. This order he claims is still in force. This is not a new court; it is the court of Alabama claims re-established, and all the permanent orders of the old court applicable are deemed to be in force. The matter was, however, duly considered by the reorganized court and passed upon by the then first comptroller, who, on Dec. 21, 1883, officially notified him of the acceptance and approval of his quarterly account at the rate of $8,000 a year. Mr. Creswell says the present attitude of Comptroller Durham is an attempt to revive a provision which both the court and the senate thought "monstrous and unpleasant," and which the lawmakers believed they had forever precluded by the provision referred to. He closes by making a formal demand for the continued payment of his salary as sanctioned by law and usage heretofore or for a detailed statement in writing of the objections of the first comptroller, so that he may be able to take the proper steps to maintain his rights.

Consular Appointments by the President.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—The president has made the following appointments: Henry W. Gilbert, of New York, consul at Trieste; James M. Ross, of New York, consul at Three Rivers, Can.; Moses A. Hopkins, of North Carolina, to be minister resident and consul general at Liberia; Irwin Dougan, to be supervising inspector of steam vessels for the Memphis, Tenn., district. Moses A. Hopkins, of North Carolina, appointed minister to Liberia, was born a slave in Montgomery county, Virginia. After obtaining his freedom he was educated at Lincoln university, Pennsylvania. He was until recently principal of the State Normal Colored school of North Carolina. He was indorsed for the position to which he has just been appointed by the governor and state officers of North Carolina, as well as by representative colored men of that state.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

CONDITION OF GENERAL BUSINESS QUITE FAVORABLE.

Steadiness in Dry Goods and Woolen Fabrics—The Pig Iron Market Firm—The Business Outlook—Failures for a Week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Bradstreet's Journal in its commercial summary says: The condition of general trade is quite as favorable as that mentioned at any previous date within seven weeks past. The steadiness and strength manifested by the demand for dry goods and for woolen fabrics have encouraged many dealers at eastern distributing centers to look for steadiness in the movement. It may be added that the gain in the demand for pig iron tends in some degree to inspire the confidence manifested in various quarters that the turn in the tide has at last taken place, and that the increase in the consumption of staple commodities may present a steady growth. It is a welcome sign that no boom is discernable in any direction. The increased distribution of goods is formed of a larger number of moderate sized orders, and in many instances of unexpected duplicate demand.

The American pig-iron market is firm. Sales at New York average about 3,000 tons daily. With a continuation of this business a moderate advance is likely. All the steel-rail mills are at work, and $29@30 are freely quoted. Bar iron is in much better request, and the iron trade as a whole feels the influence.

Eastern agents and jobbers of dry goods continue to do a fair business, but as retailers are fairly well stocked up, sales are not as large as they have been. Additional brands of brown and bleached cotton have been advanced in price. There has been no special change in the wool market. Manufactures buy with reserve, as holders are stiffening their views, and goods have not appreciated in price to correspond with the gain in the raw material. The demand for woolen goods is rather better than otherwise. Boots and shoes are in much better request, but prices are low. The features of the general situation are, however, not uniform.

Anthracite coal and wheat and Indian corn and flour are all suffering from extremely depressed prices and a slack demand. These must be supplemented by reference to quite severe railway competition and of war of rates south, northwest, and east from Chicago.

The Liverpool Grain Market.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12.—A leading weekly grain circular says: "The weather is wet and unsettled, retarding harvesting. A considerable portion of the crops is not yet gathered. Trade is firmer, with a good inquiry for wheat. Spot and distant sellers are not offering freely. An advance of 1d is paid. At Friday's market there was a fair attendance. The feeling was steady. There was a moderate trade in wheat at extreme rates. Average sales of flour were made at full prices. There was a healthy consumers' demand for corn at previous rates."

A Private Banker Fails.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 12.—Milwaukee is experiencing considerable of a sensation, caused Friday morning by the assignment of Samuel B. French, a private banker, who has always stood very high. He assigned to George R. Browery, his son-in-law. The liabilities are $65,000 and upward and the assets $55,000.

Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—There were 183 failures in the United States reported to Bradstreet's during the week, against 169 in the preceding week, and 180, 136 and 139 in the corresponding weeks of 1884, 1883, and 1882 respectively. About 83 per cent. were those of small traders whose capital was less than $5,000.

Lynching a Kentucky Negro.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—Last Saturday a negro named Scales, who had just been discharged from the Cincinnati workhouse, made a brutal assault on the 5-year-old daughter of a poor man named Lunsford, who lives in Boone county, Kentucky. He was arrested and confined in the jail at Burlington. At 12 o'clock Friday night a mob about eighty strong assembled at Florence and proceeded to Burlington. Upon reaching the jail, about 1 o'clock, the mob broke the doors with sledges, bound Scales hand and foot, and threw him down the stone steps of the jail. They then placed him in a wagon, drove out on the pike several miles, and hanged him. Scales piteously prayed for mercy and declared his innocence, but without avail. The mob was infuriated with liquor, and wanted to take out Dunkark, who is held for murder, but his friends gathered and aided the sheriff in resisting the demand of the mob.

Reunited After Fifty Years.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—Fifty years ago Ellen Johnson, a colored woman, was separated from her mother, who was sold and sent to New Orleans. The mother arrived here Friday morning hale and hearty. She is 112 years old and the daughter 60. Living in the house with Mrs. Ellen Johnson are her children to the third generation, so that the Johnson family now consists of great-great-grandmother, great-grandmother, grandmother, mother, and children.

Desperate Strikers.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 12.—The New Haven Wire-Mill company Friday was working a force of men from Worcester, Mass., at its works. One hundred and fifty strikers, who have been out since July 5, stoned the new men as they were driven in stages over a bridge to their quarters in a distant part of the city. The mill is guarded by special watchmen. Serious trouble is feared, as the strikers are out of funds. The company says it can get plenty of men.

Jeffersonian Simplicity in the Navy.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—Second Comptroller Maynard has written a letter to Rear Admiral Jouett in response to his protest against charging him with the amount expended in entertaining distinguished guests. Judge Maynard denies that law or precedent justifies the expenditure from a contingent appropriation.

A Free Fight in Church.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 12.—While revival services were being held in the Waynesville Baptist church loud talking from a group of young men in the vestry caused a protest from Elder William Brown. The crowd attacked him, but he felled several with a stool. Finally Joe Patton, Coot Allen, and John Haynes fell on him and fatally stabbed him. They fled and are still at large.

Lowered His Record.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 12.—At Hamilton park Friday Phil Thompson lowered his 3-year-old record of 2:33, trotting in 2:20¼, which is the fastest mile ever trotted on the track by 7½ seconds.

A Touching Instance.

[Exchange.]

A touching instance of insect instinct has just been sent to us. The writer says: "I found a cockroach struggling in a bowl of water. I took half a peanut shell for a boat, I put him into it and gave him two wooden toothpicks for oars and left him. The next morning I visited him and he had put a piece of white cotton thread on one of the toothpicks and set the toothpick on an end as a signal of distress. He had a hair on the other toothpick, and there that cockroach sat a-fishing. The cockroach, exhausted, had fallen asleep. The sight melted me to tears. I had never to chew leather to get a soul; I was born with one. I took that cockroach out, gave him a spoonful of gruel and left. That animal never forgot my kindness, and now my house is chock full of cockroaches."

Discovery of Pottery.

[Exchange.]

Pottery was discovered, Grant Allen suggests, by accident. A savage carried some water in a calabash—the hard shell of a tropical fruit—when it occurred to him to smear the outside with clay and put the calabash itself over the fire. This he did, the water boiled, and upon removing the calabash he found it incased and protected by a hard, red, stone-like substance.

Indignant at the Promotion.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—There is a chorus of indignation from the service papers over the appointment of Prince Louis of Battenberg as a commander in the British navy. In the naval clubs there are outspoken criticisms of this promotion of a "foreign land-lubber" over the heads of hundreds of officers who have seen service where service meant something. They say that a little parade exercise as a lieutenant in a German regiment does not give a young man the nerve and knowledge to command a British man-of-war, and they speak of the appointment as another scandal in the British navy. The newspapers are more circumspect, but they point out the fact that there are more than 300 officers of the navy who are the seniors of Prince Louis, and who are over-slaughtered by his promotion.

LULLABY-TIME.

O, the lullaby-time, the lullaby-time!
With its comforts of nestling, it song and its rhyme;
The soft, clinging arms, and the little lips red;
The plump baby form, and the round golden head;
The little low rocker, the dainty crib near—
O the lullaby-time, all so happy and dear!

What tho' daytime be busy, perchance ful of care,
When in sunlight and shadow each mother must share;
What tho' pleasures be many, or troubles increase,
There's a sweet hour coming, with soothing and peace;
'Tis the lullaby-time, O the lullaby-time,
With its comfort of nestling, its song, and its rhyme.

O, we mothers are sorry for those who don't know
The rest that creeps in with the twilight's soft glow,
That rest that is born of the lullaby-time.
When the cares of the day fly before the low chime
That comes welling from depths where the mother's love springs,
And charms into slumber the baby that clings,
And nestles, and coos, till in dreamland at last

THE ROMAN FEVER.

Exaggerated Reports That Have Been Circulated Concerning It.

[Rome Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.]

The Italians amuse themselves in their simple and rational way during the summer, and seem to be exceedingly comfortable, though, as in Egypt, they wear heavy broadcloth or other stuffs that would be thought unendurable in the northern cities of America. The nights are always so cool that a person can take moderate exercise during the evening and sleep well under thin covering. It is said that the nights in Rome are unhealthy; that persons must not go about evenings, and must even exclude the air at night by jealously closing the windows. I have taken none of those precautions. I have invariably slept with my windows open, and during my two weeks of stay have been invariably in the streets and places where there is usually music until a late hour without feeling the slightest inconvenience. On the contrary, there has seemed to be a healing quality in the night air that restored the ill effects of the heat at midday.

Yet the Roman fever is held up as a mortal terror to Americans who might like to visit Rome during the warm season, and Henry James has made Daisy Miller, one of his most interesting heroines, die of the Roman fever, because she indiscreetly went to hear the band in the Place di Colonna. There was, of course, no reason why the life of a heroine like Daisy Miller should have been protracted, for she certainly had little excuse for being, but there was less reason why her untimely end should be laid at the door of one of the healthiest climates in the world, and to a city whose death-rate, even at this season, does not exceed, and, I believe, does not equal, that of San Francisco. The mortality of Rome, which has a population of over 350,000, is not at this moment more than 100 per week, and does not any season greatly exceed that. It is true that persons get sick at Rome and die of some malarial trouble that is called the Roman fever. But so they die also in America of malarial fever of many kinds, and of diphtheria and throat diseases which sometimes become epidemic.

There is little doubt that the fevers of Rome may generally be attributed to the indiscretions of the people that have them. People come to Rome after weeks of travel, during which they have been in constant motion, stopping a day or two in a place, eating all sorts of food, sleeping in all sorts of beds, and suffering all manner of exposures. Rome is the goal. They arrive with the expectation of spending several weeks, and during these weeks of course they are in a state of rest compared with the period of active travel through which they have just passed. They do a good deal of sight-seeing in cold picture galleries and drafty churches, passing abruptly from one extreme of temperature to the other, and from excesses of fatigue to intervals of repose.

In the leisure thus afforded the malarial troubles and other physical disturbances that have accumulated and been unnoticed during the period of more rapid travel and greater excitement have opportunity to appear. Local causes may favor their development, but the seed has undoubtedly been sown elsewhere. I have asked many Romans if they had had the fever, and they invariably replied no; and almost always with a sneer. There were occasional cases, they said, in the low parts of the city, near the Tiber, but on the slopes of the Pincian and Quirinal hills it was never heard of.

Why People Die.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

They were discussing the topic of the hour, the death of Gen. Grant and the decorations and the parade. The young hopeful of the family, who is still "only 5 years old," owing to the exigencies of the car transportation, was listening as hard as the discussion of sundry pieces of pie and things would permit. He had got through, and concluded he would take an oar himself.

"Mamma," he said, "what makes people die, anyway?"

"Everybody's got to die," said mamma, in the usual evasive way in which people answer children's questions.

"If God made people what does He mean by making them die?"

"My child, you forget that people must die to make room for the children that are always being born. There would not be room for the new people if nobody died."

"That's so," said the little fellow contemplatively; "and then there's so many pet- -s."

VAGRANT BANK NOTES

PASSING IN REVIEW THROUGH THE REDEMPTION AGENCY.

The Wear and Tear of Bank Notes and Greenbacks—Identification of Burned Notes—Expert Counting—Catching the Counterfeits.

[New York Post.]

When the national bank notes have tramped about the country until they have become ragged and vagabond, and have reached the lowest depths of degradation, they are bundled up and sent to the treasury department for redemption. Many millions of those vagrants are received at the department each year. They have to pass in review through the national bank redemption agency, where those that are utterly depraved and good for nothing are sentenced to be chewed up, and those that have got in through the force of association, but are still not so far gone that some good may not be got out of them, are sent back into the service. In the place of those that are condemned, nice, new notes, crisp and clean, are sent out. The experience of these notes is varied, and in some cases very novel and interesting, but their tale is told only by their ragged and dirty appearance when they get back to the department.

The average length of time that a new note can keep up a respectable appearance is about three years. Some have been found at the end of twenty years to be as crisp as on the day of their issue, but these are exceptional cases, where they have fallen into the hands of people who made pets of them and carefully guarded them from rough usage. The wandering note soon becomes a tramp. It rapidly goes to pieces if it starts out for the west, stopping along at the cross-road inns, or if it frequents drinking saloons and falls in with low company. Bad habits tell on a bank note very quickly.

One lady in the comptroller's office in this case has charge of them, and they are sent to her for identification before they can be redeemed. Her name is Fitzgerald, and she is said to be very expert, seldom failing to identify a note, giving its proper name, date and classification, no matter how badly burnt it is. Sometimes packages of several hundred, done up to be expressed, are sent in all stuck together and burnt clear through to a black crispy mass. She then separates them one by one with a very thin-bladed knife, and places the charred remains of each one separately upon a glass slab and examines it very carefully with a magnifying glass. She is familiar with all peculiarities of the issues of the various banks, and a note must be reduced almost to ashes to be beyond her recognition, though to an inexperienced eye it might not be distinguished from a piece of grocer's paper which had gone through the fire.

All those notes otherwise mutilated go directly to the redemption agency. The degree of expert efficiency displayed there is something remarkable. This branch of the service was organized about eleven years ago by Gen. Spinner. Prior to that there was no systematic redemption of the paper currency as it became too worn for circulation, and a good many ragamuffin notes were wandering about the country. The service began with about 152 people employed in counting and assorting the notes that came in for redemption. Very nearly the same amount of work is now done by fifty-seven. The counting in and assorting of the notes require great care, and it is only after long experience that it can be done rapidly.

There is an average of about 150,000,000 notes per year handled, and they have to be counted about five times if there is no hitch in the count, and oftener if any mistakes are made. But the amount is variable from year to year, and even from month to month. The lowest number was in 1880-81, when 60,000,000 were redeemed, and from that it has run up as high as 240,000,000 in a single year. Some months it runs as low as 4,000,000 or 5,000,000, then again it runs up in other months to 18,000,000 or 20,000,000. The months of January and June always take the lead, those being the periods just after the fall and spring trade, respectively, when the currency worn out by the rough usage in traffic is collected and sent in to be replaced by new notes. The force of fifty-seven, all except two or three of whom are ladies, can handle just half a million notes each day. This is very expert counting.

The notes when they come to be judged have first to be "counted in." This requires the "counter in" to go over them twice, and she must make no mistake and pass no counterfeit, or the loss thus caused will be deducted from her salary. She is given from 6,000 to 10,000 notes, for which she gives a receipt; then she counts them "in;" then she counts them back, and if the two counts agree she is given credit for them when she settles up in the evening, turning in the money bound and labeled with her name and amount on each package. If the packages, or any of them, are found short, she has to make good the deficiency. Next, the notes have to be assorted, those in good condition from those in bad condition; then they have to be grouped as to denomination; then distributed into banks of issue, and then into denomination, under the heads of banks.

Then they are "counted out." The "counter in" has to handle them twice and the "counter out" thrice, but the former has the most responsibility, and must be the most expert. The "counter in" handles from 6,000 to 10,000 notes twice, or counts 12,000 to 20,000 per day, while the "counter out" handles from 5,000 to 7,000 three times, or counts from 15,000 to 21,000 per day. This is provided they make no mistake, which makes a recount necessary and doubles the work. To do this requires constant attention and is a great strain on the nerves, as each note has to be scrutinized very closely to see that it is not counterfeit, and the "counter in" must know the name of every bank that has a counterfeit upon it, and have in his mind a full description of the false note, so as to be able to detect it at sight.

The superintendent says counterfeit notes are thrown out by these experts without hesitation every time they come to them. They have a line of notes passing before their eyes all the time, and any flaw or defect they notice on the instant. Two hundred and forty appointments have been made during the eleven years of the agency's existence, and forty of the fifty seven employes now there have served from the first. A new hand is doing remarkably well if he or she learns in six months to count 500 per day on the assortment, which is the easiest, while these old hands will count 10,000 a day if the notes are fairly good.

Women are employed for this business because of the delicacy of their touch and on account of the fact that they are not so apt to have bad habits. They must be young, quick and healthy and well educated, and their salaries, which are paid in through the treasury by the banks, for the three grades of work are rated at $900, $1,000 and $1,200. The cashiers and two or three of the counters are men.

"But Henry has talent, father!"

"May be, child, may be; but you can't live on that without a little bacon to mix with it."

The Present Generation.

Lives at telegraphic speed—eats too fast, retires too late, does not rise betimes, smokes and (alas, that we should have to say it!) chews too much tobacco. The consequences are dyspepsia, a general absence of that robust and manly vigor which characterized our ancestors, and a manifest proneness to early decay. Regular hours, a due allowance of time for meals, the disuse of excessive smoking, and altogether of chewing tobacco, in connection with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will in nine cases out of ten efface consequences of the abuses of the laws of health indicated above. A want of stamina, dyspepsia, nervousness and biliousness are among these consequences, and they are bodily ills to the removal of which the bitters is specially adapted. Nor is the bitters less fitted to overcome and prevent fever and ague, kidney and bladder troubles and rheumatic ailments. It is also a fine appetizer and promoter of convalescence.

GIANT STRONG DRINK IS EXTENSIVELY advertised under false names. Beware of the Ogre thus disguised. If sick, put your trust in the vanquisher of all diseases, DR. RICHMOND'S SAMARITAN NERVINE. $1.50, at Prentice & Evenson's, opposite post office.

Thirty Girls in Hysterics.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—At the American Rubber Works in Cambridge Friday one of the girls suddenly began to laugh loudly, act strangely and then fainted. Several others dropped on the floor, and before physicians could be summoned more than thirty employes were unconscious or in hysterics. It appeared that naphtha fumes had affected them much the same as laughing gas would, and they were taken home in carriages. An unusual quantity of naphtha was used Friday.

The Apaches Again.

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 12.—Nine Apache bucks and eleven squaws passed northward near Hillsboro Thursday on their way toward the San Carlos reservation. Near Lake Valley they stole sixteen horses and killed the owner who attempted to prevent the capture of the animals. A portion of the Eighth cavalry is following the band closely with good prospects of overhauling them. No others murders have been reported.

Will Not Reopen the Accounts.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—The second comptroller of the treasury has declined to reopen the accounts of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for transportation of troops, etc., during the war. Attorneys for the railroad claim that owing to the exposure to danger it should have been allowed full rates. The comptroller decides that there is no complaint of errors and no reason for reopening the accounts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Song of Gratitude.

In olden times, Bethesda's pool
Was famed for healing all diseases;
Once plunged beneath its waters cool,
Each evil, stain and sickness ceases.

In modern days we find a cure,
Of worth as rare, as much deserving;
A remedy safe, quick and sure,
Dr. Richmond's SAMARITAN NERVINE.

For Epilepsy, Spasms, Fevers, Colics, Cramps,
Coughs, Colds, or any kind of Phthysic;
It merit as a leader stamps
It far above all other physics.

It goes at once right to the spot
Where lurks the danger, never swerving;
In all the world perhaps there's not
A cure like Dr. Hammonds NERVINE.

As in the blood diseases lie;
Each artery, each vein, each curve in;
There's nothing makes ill humor fly,
Like the SAMARITAN NERVINE.

For old or young, for rich or poor,
Whatever class of life you serve in,
To health wide open is the door,
From the SAMARITAN NERVINE.

Then do you value strength and health,
And think these blessings worth preserving,
Better than all Galconda's wealth,
Is Dr. Richmond's SAMARITAN NERVINE.

Brevities.

—Marshal Hogan captured an unruly and noisy drunk to-day.

—Fardy Murphy was assessed $10 and costs to-day by Judge Patton, for violating a city ordinance last Sunday.

—Mr. Theodore Kendall, of the first ward, after spending a very agreeable summer among friends in the east, has returned home.

—The Union club gave another of their well-known dances at Apollo hall last evening. The music was furnished by Anderson's band.

—Miss Carrie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Young, Bluff street, second ward, who has resided in Rockford the past two years, returned to Janesville yesterday and will now make her home in the Bower City.

—Mrs. W. C. Brown, of Le Beau, Dakota, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and will remain some time visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fellows, Glen street, second ward, and other relatives and friends.

—The entry books for the Rock county fair will be open at the Park hotel Monday morning and entries can be made there until Tuesday, at 9 a. m., when entries will be made at the secretary's office on the fair grounds.

—The case of the state against John O'Mally, for malicious mischief, is on trial this afternoon in the municipal court. The parties are all from Johnstown and the damage done was the breaking down of a fence in that neighborhood.

—Last night the north bound Dakota express over the Chicago & Northwestern road was delayed nearly two hours by a wreck at Harvard. An engine and four cars were smashed up in the Harvard switch yards and it was some time before the track could be cleared.

—The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sale, on Washington street, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering last evening. A bountiful supper was served at an early hour and the evening was passed in social chat, and much enjoyed by all present.

—Mrs. Sarah Smiley died this morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Moses, after a long and painful illness, aged 74 years. Funeral at the residence, No. 11, Ravine street, Monday morning at eight o'clock. The remains will be taken to Monroe for interment.

—Last evening about forty couple of young people from Janesville and vicinity made merry at the Leyden house, between this city and Fulton. The party was a platform dance and the participants enjoyed themselves so well that none of the young people left for home until nearly four o'clock. An excellent supper was served in the dining room, a feature of the entertainment which was fully appreciated. Anderson's orchestra furnished the music for the dancers.

—Mr. T. B. Earle, representing F. C. Linde, Hamilton & Co., tobacco inspectors of New York, reports that he has already inspected 10,000 cases of '84 leaf, and has much more ahead of him. He says that the crop of last year is finer in quality than any since 1882, and is in much better condition, being entirely free from damage. During the week he inspected Conrad Bros., S. Holdredge's, and Stevens & McKey's packings, finishing that of Stevens & McKey this afternoon. Next week he is engaged to look over the stock of Rockwood Bros., Hibbard, Godden & Ehrler, John Thoroughgood & Co., Baines & Heddles, and F. A. Hoerich.

—A good audience was present last evening at Court street M. E. church and listened with interest to an entertaining and instructive lecture by Miss Franc Baker, secretary of the Young Ladies' Missionary Circle of the Detroit conference. The lecture was illustrated by the stereopticon, giving views of the walls, temples, gods, public buildings, markets, games and cemeteries of China. These were explained by the speaker in an apt and interesting way, showing the social, religious and home life, the peculiarities and superstitions of that wonderful people. Miss Baker is an excellent speaker and the members of Court Street Mission Circle will gladly welcome her services at any time in the future

—Beloit Free Press:—Beloit has reason to be satisfied with its young representative at the Annapolis naval academy, Alfred S. Thompson. Of some 92 candidates only 10 passed the first examination in mathematics, of which successful number Alfred was one. Both physical and mental examinations are very thorough, and in the first he stood perfect, and in the last, mental, he was re-examined only in United States history, and then went through in fine style. He reported on the man-of-war Santee for duty on Monday of this week, on which ship he will remain until October, when his Academical studies will begin. He is now a "plebe," and undoubtedly prepared to "eat soap," "drink ink," "walk on his ear," and indulge in such other enforced eccentricities as the whims of the older classes may demand.

—Secretary Vankirk, of the Rock county fair association, has received the most flattering assurances of a large attendance of exhibitors and visitors from the western part of Rock county and the eastern portion of Green county. On Friday a large delegation from Brodhead and Albany will visit the fair, and Secretary Vankirk is arranging special attractions for that day. He is now in correspondence with the Chippewa Indians of the Red Cliff and Bad river agencies, for the tribe to visit the fair and play a game of lacrosse. The Indians are now in Chicago, and Secretary Vankirk is confident that he will be able to secure them for one day next week. Every thing is progressing favorably at the fair grounds and the buildings and grounds will be completed and ready for the reception of stock and articles on the first day. Should the weather of next week prove favorable the fair will be a success.

—The lady members of the Woman's Relief corps, of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., perpetrated a most agreeable surprise on the veteran members of the post last evening. While the members of the post were busy transacting their business in the inner room, the ladies took possession of the ante rooms which they used for the time in storing tables, dishes and provisions, and after having everything completed, they awaited the adjournment of the post. They did not have to wait long, and when the doors of the meeting room were thrown open the ladies "pressed" a few of the veterans into their service, the tables were quickly transferred to the main room, where they were loaded with choice delicacies, and the members of the Post were all invited to sit down and partake which they did, at the same time the ladies were the recipients of many kind remarks from the veterans who surrounded the tables. The surprise worked well, and the ladies seem as happy over the success of the little affair as the men who were so agreeably surprised with a 'square meal."

Kenilworth Block.

Flats as family residences have been tried with great success in the cities, and there has long been a demand for something of this nature in Janesville. They are very convenient, the surroundings are more homelike than in an ordinary suite of rooms, and the price is very reasonable. B. B. Eldredge, Esq., has taken the lead and now has four flats completed and two of them occupied. In fact he has remodled the whole block in which they are situated so it may be as well to commence at the cellar and go through the whole list of improvements. The building in question is the one situated on the east side of South Main street, the third and fourth doors from the corner of Court street. The cellars of the two stores have been cleaned out, and large gratings put in. The stores are not yet completed but will be finished in cherry, with a tinted ceiling. It is intended to cut an arch between the two and use them as a double store. For a large grocery, dry goods or clothing trade, this would make the finest situation in the city. Up stairs are he flats. Each is entirely separate from the other, having a private hall and entrance, and is in fact a complete residence in itself. There are five good-sized rooms, a pantry, and number of closets, gas, running water and a front and back stairway for each flat, so that the conveniences are better than in many private dwelling houses. Mr. Eldredge has spent in remodeling this block, which is named Kenilworth, something over $1,500 and there is no doubt that the money has been well spent, as two of the suites were engaged before the workmen had finished and undoubtedly before long the others will be occupied.

Inquest on the Cause of the Death of Paul Broder.

After the funeral services held over the remains of Professor Paul Broder yesterday, and the body was placed in the tomb and the friends had dispersed an autopsy was held by Dr. Palmer, of Janesville, in the presence of Justice Wickham, of Janesville, and a coroner's jury to secure evidence which can be given in a coroner's inquest upon the probable cause of Mr. Broder's death. It is well remembered here that Mr. Broder as is supposed, fell down the stairs leading to his office, in his building, sustaining injuries from which he died.

The deceased's sisters then felt that their brother had met with violence, but few citizens shared their belief, and no inquest was held. The body was placed in a vault in Chicago, and it is said that ever since the sisters have been seeking evidence in the case, and when the remains were transferred to the new family vault they concluded to have the surgeon's examination, and having made affidavits before the coroner to the effect that they believed their brother had been murdered, the sisters compelled the justice to call a coroner's inquest.

The officers and jury and physician therefore came to Beloit yesterday from Janesville, and after the autopsy it was concluded to hold the inquest next Monday at Janesville. Dr. Palmer yesterday removed the skull of the corpse and made other examinations. The body had a very discolored appearance, but the friends say the features were easily recognizeable.

The action of the Misses Broder in the case rather surprises the people here, and few entertain the opinion that there is real cause for the action taken.—Beloit Free Press, of Friday.

Changing The Switch Yards.

Within the past two weeks the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul railway have been making a number of changes in their tracks at this city. Their yard, which was formerly scattered along between Pleasant street and the River street bridge, is now being removed. When finished the switching will be done between High and Pleasant streets, most of it being done around Pleasant. A force of men are now at work increasing the number of tracks below Academy street and before long there will probably be very little switching done north of that street. That this change is a good one there is no doubt as it will do away with much of the noise, dirt and danger about the High and Jackson street crossings.

The large car scales are also being moved from their old position and placed between Wall and Academy streets for the greater convenience of the yard men. When this is done most of the switching on both roads will be done south of the passenger depots where there is less danger to teams and fewer people to be inconvenienced.

* Loss. † Not organized in 1880.

But seven—Fond du Lac, Green Bay Waupun, Boscobel, Hartford, Omro and Geneva—show a decline. In the above list Janesville takes the tenth place—Appleton and Sheboygan stepping ahead of her since 1880. The Evening Wisconsin thus explains the rapid growth of some of the cities: "Perhaps the most thoroughly disappointed city is Racine, which occupied second place in 1882, but is now relegated to fifth. The state authorities were importuned by many Racine people to order a recount in Eau Claire and La Crosse, where it is charged that the census takers had a habit of running in all the stray lumbermen and strangers to the town, and often saw double when they struck the saw mill boarding barracks It was also intimated that the Oshkosh enumerators were rather fantastic in their statistics. But as there do not appear to have been any definite charges of falsification, the asked for recounts were not ordered, and the census will have to stand as reported by the local authorities. There is no doubt whatever that Oshkosh, Eau Claire and La Crosse have within the past few years, and it is quite probable that the above figures are not very far out of the way. Chippewa Falls, Wausau and Marinette about doubled in size, owing to the growth of lumbering interests at those points; Merrill's advance was quite phenominal, from the same cause. Sheboygan's gain largely represents the growth in cheese making and kindred industries. Edgerton and Stoughton are the tobacco packing and shipping centers of the state, and the increase there is the direct result of the enlarged demand for Wisconsin leaf. Ashland's wonderful advance is attributable to her combined attractions as a sanitarium, lumbering town, lake port and convenient shipping points for ores out of the Penoka range. Appleton's manufacturing interests, yearly increasing, despite the cry of over-production in many of the wares turned out there, give her a constant and very healthy growth. Madison, too, has experienced a healthy boom of considerable proportions the past three years from several causes. There has been a material increase in the number of her manufactories, and nearly a thousand men, women and girls are now employed in them; her greatly improved railroad facilities have improved the city as a wholesale center and retail trading point for a large section of contiguous territory; the attractions of the place as a home, with its educational advantages and library facilities, bring here many families of stated incomes and no inconsiderable number of professional literary workers; these are the reasons for Madison's very creditable growth, which may seem surprising to the many who have been in the habit of regarding the capital city as a "dead-alive" sort of place.

PROUD WISCONSIN.

The general advance in the population and business and manufacturing interests of the commonwealth will readily account for the gains of the other cities and villages. A perusal of the above table will convince the blues pessimist that Wisconsin is having a healthy and enduring growth. Nothing can stop it from keeping full pace with the general progress of the Union. Its lake ports, diversified manufactures, forests, mines, widening range of agricultural pursuits, mineral springs, sanitariums, delightful scenery and beautiful climate, and a population as active, intelligent and progressive as any on the face of the earth, are qualifications and conditions which make Wisconsin the peer of its proudest sisters."

The License Question.

To the Editor.

"—L.—" In your paper a few days since asks the very pertinent question relative to license in this city, "What shall the answer be?" The saloon license in the city of Beloit is and I believe has been for the last year, six hundred dollars, and it is understood that the democratic city of Madison will on Tuesday next vote for a license fee of three hundred and fifty dollars, as the lowest, and probably will vote for a five hundred dollar license. In most cities of many of the western states the license for the sale of liquors has been increased to from five hundred to one thousand dollars, and is found to work to the satisfaction of all. What will Janesville say on Tuesday next? It should be understood that this vote settles the question for the next three years. All friends of high license should be vigilant and see that this question does not go by default. —. M. —.

AN APPEAL TO CATHOLICS

For Means to Endow the Professorships in the New University at Washington.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12.—The committee appointed by the plenary council to arrange for the establishment of the Catholic university which Miss Caldwell, of New York, has so liberally endowed, has issued an appeal to the Catholics of the United States. After setting forth all that has already been accomplished as far as preliminary arrangements are concerned including the purchase of a lot in Washington on which the building is to be erected, the appeal circular says:

We appeal to the Catholics of the United States, and especially to the wealthy, to provide the means to endow the eight professorships with which the university will enter upon it work. The creation of this university is the first work of general and national significance undertaken by the church in this country; and when we consider what the various dioceses and parishes have singly accomplished in a few years in building churches, schools, etc., it is not possible to doubt that the united energies of 9,000,000 Catholics will prove equal to any enterprise. It is obvious that the dignity of the church in American demands that it should have at least one institution, which transcending local needs and interests, shall assume a national and representative character.

The following names of the university board are appended to the appeal: Archbishops Gibbons, of Baltimore; Heiss, of Milwaukee; Williams, of Boston; Ryan, of Philadelphia; Carrigan, of New York; Bishops Ireland, of St. Paul; Keane, of Richmond; Spalding, of Peoria.

A Cargo of Silver.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The United States man-of-war Swatara left here Friday with the large sum of $10,400,000 in silver coin taken from the mint here. This is said to be the most valuable cargo ever carried on a vessel. The silver put the vessel down about about two and a half feet, so that she now draws a little over twenty feet. There was a report that the vessel was too far down in the water for safety, but the officers ridicule the idea. At quarantine station half the silver will be transferred to the United States vessel Yantic, which is at anchor there, and the two will then leave together for Washington. A treasury official goes with each vessel.

Treasury Officials To Be Removed.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 12.—Prior to his departure on his vacation, Secretary Manning notified Gen. Rosecrans, register of the treasury, among others, that, during his absence he would decide what removals and appointments in his department would best subserve the public interests. In consonance with this, and agreeably to the wishes of the appointing power, Gen. Rosecrans Friday requested the resignation of the assistant register of the treasury and the five chiefs of the divisions in his bureau, such resignations to take effect on the appointment of their successors.
